

2017 Essexville Citizen of the Year Dennis Rondeau

City Manager
Dan Hansford

Dennis Rondeau

City Councilmember
Jennifer Gradowski

Mayor
Scott Wittbrodt

Dennis Rondeau was selected as this year's recipient by the Public Relations Committee and the Mayor. The following was submitted and read aloud at the February City Council meeting with Dennis and his family in attendance.

Dennis Rondeau has made his mark on the City of Essexville in many quiet ways. For years he has served on various commissions for the city. As a member of the Board of Review, he has reviewed, corrected, and listened to appeals by property owners behind the scenes. As a member of the Planning Commission, he has helped make recommendations for public improvements and the physical development of the city. On the Board of Zoning Appeals, he has met to hear requests for exceptions to ordinances regarding land use and building requirements. And at election time, he serves on the Election Board making sure operations at both Precincts 1 and 2 run smoothly.

In addition to serving on commissions, Dennis has officially run for City Council and has run for open seats mid-term. Although he has not served on the council just yet, we have no doubt his time will come.

His above resume demonstrates he wants to be involved in our city affairs. As the criteria for Citizen of the Year states, nominees should be actively involved in activities that make a difference in the well-being of the community. Dennis certainly meets this criteria. He has consistently shown support for our community and our city is all the better because of it.

Thank you, Dennis!
